TO HAVE FIRST-CLASS BALL

The Greys Given a Rousing Send-Off on Departure for Washington.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., March 2,-The Cockade City, pennant winner in the Old Virginia League, will have a good ball team with a newly equipped field and all accessories if the local lovers of the national game give Mr. J. J. Grim, of Cin cinnati, and several Petersburg men, who are interested in the enterprise satisfactory assurance that it will be supported. Mr. Grim, who is a well known baseball man, holds a franchise for Petersburg, and is busily pushing the scheme. He has a list of a goodly number of names of business men and others who wish to take stock in proposed company. Two fine locations for a ball park, imme diately on the Ferndale line of the Virginia Passenger and Power Company, have been inspected and found available. Either one would suggest itself for just such a purpose, and a meeting of all interested will be held to morrow night at the Ches-

will be held to morrow night at the Chestericid Hotel to start the game.

DIED ON THE STREET.
Richard Sykes, colored, employed at Watson and McGill's tobacco factory, died suddenly on Washington Street, early this morning, while on his way to work. Sykes apparently fell in a fit, while walking with a companion, and died in a few minutes, presumably of heart disease or apoptexy. An inquest was deemed unsecessary.

were instituted here to-day by a Washington lawyer in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Western District of Virginia, for Richard Jones against the city of Roanoke, for 33,000 damages, and the same against Joel Cutchin, Mayor, and J. A. Manuel, sergeant of that city, for 130,000.

Jones is the colored Baptist minister who resided in Roanoke at the time of the assault upon Mrs. Shields by the negro. Henry Williams, and who-had to fee from the city from a mob which formed to avenge itself on the preacher, who was charged with making inflammatory remarks in a sermon to his congregation relative to the assault upon Mrs. Shields. The plaintiff alleges that on the night of February 3, 1904, he was forced to fee from his home and walk seven miles to a railway station, to leave the State; that he is now a resident of Pennsylvania, and cannot return to Virginia without fear of bodly harm, and that he has been forced to sacrifice his property in Roanoke.

The allegations of the declarations in both cases are that the city officials were notified of the forming of the mob in ampte time to have prevented the plaintiff from being forced to leave the city.

The action against the city officials is against them personally and not officially. The defendants will be required to plead to the declarations in twenty days.

Player Maid at the Academy To-Morrow-Bijou Bills.

"The Player Maid." a new romantic comedy by Louise Mailoy, with Florence Dayls as the star, will be the attraction at the Academy to-morrow, matines and night.

The period of the new play is 1750 and has to do with an actress, Eleanor Hallan, a famous actress of the Drury Lane Theatre, in that famous oid play-house when under the management of Garrick.

At the Bijou.

"For His Brother's Crime," at the Bijou. The play seems to have retained all the friends made here last season and to have made new onces this year. The feats performed by Mr. Irving are startling and sensational, his sword combat being one of the most exciting and thrilling produced in any of the Bianey attractions. The engagement will close Saturday 'night.

"His Last Dollar."

The Washington Star prints the following concerning the play which comes to the Bijou next week:

NEW YORK, March 2.—One of the most peculiar cases in the annals of surgery is puzzling physicians of Flushing, Sixteen years ago John H. Beyor, a wellto-do baker of that place, stepped on a darning needle. The needle was imbedded in his left foot and caused intense pain. In endeavoring to extract the steel point a surgeon broke the needle and a portion of it remained in the foot.

A week ago Beyer fell upon an ley sidewalk, injuring his side and bruising his left hand. The injured hand commenced to swell and the baker suffered excruciating pain. Physicians discovered a hard substance in the center of the swelling,
and a deep incision was made in the hund. The physician then discovered a piece of a steel needle about an inch and a half in length. Physicians agree that it is probable that the broken needle taken from Beyer's hand is part of the one imbedded in his foot sixteen years
